

MIKE SKELLETT

25 YEARS

Beckwith & Kuffel would like to congratulate Service Technician Mike Skellett on his 25th Work Anniversary!

Mike is the blower expert in our Seattle shop, where he spends his day bringing these essential machines back to life when they've been battered and bruised in the field. We estimate he's built thousands of blowers for B&K.

Mike is also our in-house trainer for blower repair and has taught a generation of technicians his craft. In between building blowers and training new recruits, he helps maintain our facility.

Shop Foreman Bryan Soper relies on Mike to solve problems. "I wish we had five more Mike Skelledds in the shop. He has the wisdom and maturity to always do the right thing. If left alone, he'll automatically make the place better."

Beckwith & Kuffel President Matt Kuffel cites Mike's skilled craftsmanship, meticulous attention to detail and generosity to coworkers as qualities that make him a valuable member of the B&K family. "Mike is always willing to pitch in, from giving highly technical advice to performing cleanup and maintenance jobs that nobody else wants to do."

Before coming to Beckwith & Kuffel, Mike worked in the construction industry. In his spare time you'll find him tinkering with his classic 1967 Ford Fairlane and hanging out with his grandkids.
